What personally identifiable information is collected on this site?

Visitors may supply personally identifiable information (such as name, address or telephone numbers) for various purposes on this site. These purposes include registering to receive e-mail, newsletters, requesting further information about our services, or simply asking a question about Georgia Minority Supplier Development Council (GMSDC). What anonymous information is collected on this site?

Anonymous information is collected from every visitor to this site. This includes pages viewed, date and time, and browser type. IP numbers are not stored, but are temporarily used to determine domain type and in some cases, geographic region. We do not make any association between this information and a visitor's identity.

How is it used?

The information is used by GMSDC to build anonymous behavioral profiles, which are written to the GMSDC Knowledge Database, securely housed at the GMSDC data center. These profiles are accessed to offer you personalized content and promotions, and to target relevant, more interesting content, all without knowing your identity. Again, there is no association between a GMSDC Knowledge Database profile and a visitor's identity.

How does this site use cookies?

GMSDC uses cookies to identify your browser as you visit pages on the GMCSDC site or sites in the GMCSDC media network. Cookies allow GMCSDC to gather anonymous information. Cookies also allow GMCSDC to provide more relevant, targeted content as you travel through sites in the GMCSDC media network.

For users who prefer not to have their Web usage information reflected in the GMCSDC Knowledge database, GMCSDC provides an opt-out procedure.
